

Nation/Culture/Infrastructure: A Grey Room Intervention

SPEAKERS

Rosalind C. Morris (Columbia)
Erhard Schüttpelz (Siegen)
Julia Velkova (Linköping)
Lisa Parks (Santa Barbara)

MODERATOR

Bernard Geoghegan
(editor, Grey Room)

TIME: Tuesday, April 21st

10:00 (PT) / 13:00 (ET) / 19:00 (CET)

The editors of Grey Room invite the public to an hour-long webinar on infrastructure as a site of political sovereignty and media-technical force.

Discussants will reflect on twenty-first century infrastructural imperialisms, Marcel Mauss's meditations on infrastructure and the nation, and "infrastructural ethnography" and "cultural techniques" as methods of political critique.

For links to the webinar and optional readings, sign up at <https://bit.ly/GreyRoomInfrastructure> or via the QR code below.

Grey Room
The MIT Press

Modified image of state-owned TV tower in Bulgaria's Balkan Mountains.
Original image by Ivelin Mincov, CC BY 2.5. For more information, see the recent essay by Velkova and Parks in Grey Room 103.